UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

Mr. Clifford C. Fetter, P.E.

Clifford C. Fetter is the director of the Installation Support Directorate, Headquarters Air Force Civil Engineer Support Agency (AFCESA), Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida. The Installation Support Directorate provides oversight for operations and maintenance of Sustainment, Restoration and Modernization projects at installations throughout the world. The directorate's project managers, working closely with subject matter experts and installation personnel, develop projects for award and work with contractor partners to manage construction quality, timeliness and cost. The directorate also manages the Air Force Utilities Privatization program.

Mr. Fetter is a retired Air Force colonel who began his military career in 1977. His active duty assignments have included a variety of engineering positions at installation level to include squadron commander and deputy support group commander. He also served in Headquarters Strategic Air Command, Air Mobility Command and was the Environmental Division chief at Headquarters United States Air Forces in Europe. He retired in 2003 and began his civil service career as a United States Army Forces Command deputy engineer at Fort McPherson, Georgia. He began work at AFCESA in March 2006.

Mr. Fetter is a registered professional civil engineer licensed in Nebraska.
